SUPPORTING INDIGENOUS SCRIPTURES

Many of the graduates from the certificate III in Bible translation which ran through the 1990's and early 2000's in Darwin are now significant church leaders within the Uniting Church and other denominations. Many also continue faithfully in their Bible Translation work to provide the Scriptures in the heart languages of their communities. There have been many calls from indigenous church communities to have a new Bible translation course running at Nungalinga Theological College in Darwin. The call to train the next generation of Bible Translators has been heard and we are praying that Nungalinga will be offering a Diploma of Translating commencing with the first intake of indigenous students next year. We are seeking contributions for part of the funding for a block of study, a year of study or for the complete 3 year course for a student enrolled in the Diploma of Translating at Nungalinga College.

☐ For $250, I would like to part fund a student for one study block.

☐ For $500, I would like to part fund a student for one year.

☐ For $1500 I would like to part fund a student to complete a 3 year Diploma
